FOR RESEARCH

Casetext uses A.I. technology to make legal research more effective. One of the main features included in the Casetext platform is CARA A.I. When you upload a brief or research paper, CARA automatically checks the content even if you have not included citations. Then it provides you with a list of additional resources to consider. Studies have shown that attorneys using Casetext's legal research technology performed 24% faster compared to those using legacy research tools.

And the best part is, students can open a free account. Casetext also allows the general public to use many of its features for free and provides small law firms with low cost plans.

FOR STUDY

Are you looking for an online study aid that will help you in your classes this semester? Be sure to check out all the various resources that CALI has to offer. With lessons, quizzes, and outlines on all your law school courses, CALI can help you feel more comfortable with the material you are studying.

The best part is, Richardson students can register for free at www.cali.org using our school's unique authorization code which you can get by contacting Prof. Brian Huffman at brhuffma@hawaii.edu.

On the Find E-books/ Study guides tab on our library website, you will see a link to the Lexis Nexis Digital Library. This is a fantastic resource that allows you to download books— study guides, statute books, practice guides, etc. By taking advantage of this resource, you don't have to wait in line at the circ desk to check out the Q&A study guides while you are studying for finals. Do yourself a favor and check it out.

ADDITIONAL TIPS FOR STUDENT SUCCESS

Did you know that you can connect your laptop to the smart TVs in the Law School's seminar rooms? For more information on this, to ask your friendly IT guys in room 117 in the library.

Need a room? You can reserve a quiet study room for your next study group meeting by emailing rudolfo@hawaii.edu.

If you want to know more about all the many tech resources you can use to improve your performance in your legal career, be sure to take Prof. Huffman's Tech for Lawyering Competencies courses. The schedule can be found at <https://library.law.hawaii.edu/tlc/>.
